The Charles Eberle Diary

4RiverValleys Historical Society has joined with the Germantown Historical Society in presenting this day-by-day look into the life of a farmer in Jefferson County, New York between 1821 and 1825.

Charles Eberle settled in what is now part of Fort Drum, in an area just off Route 26, on Bedlam Road, and farmed there with his wife, daughter and sons. Find out more about life in the 1800's; reserve your own copy now.

Available through 4RVHS for pickup at the June annual meeting, Jan Lundy and Judith Callard, who have worked at transcribing and translating the diary, will be there for a program and to sign copies of the book.
